

Statement of participation

Muhammad Farid Wajdi Makkulau

has completed the free course including any mandatory tests for:

Perspectives on social work: individual stories

The importance of listening to people's stories, of relationships in social work practice and the context in which social work practice takes place.

Issue date: 24 September 2025

www.open.edu/openlearn

This statement does not imply the award of credit points nor the conferment of a University Qualification.
This statement confirms that this free course and all mandatory tests were passed by the learner.

Please go to the course on OpenLearn for full details:

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/social-care-social-work/perspectives-on-social-work-individual-stories/content-section-0>

COURSE CODE: CYM-
HSCRes_E1

Perspectives on social work: individual stories

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/social-care-social-work/perspectives-on-social-work-individual-stories/content-section-0>

Course summary

In this series of four interviews you will watch a service user, a carer, a social worker and a social work manager talking about their different experiences. The interviews will illustrate the importance of listening to people's stories, the importance of relationship in social work practice, and the importance of the context in which social work practice takes place. You will consider questions about the interviews, and will reflect on the implications for practice of what the individuals have to say.

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- think about the impact of biography on personal lives.
- consider the role of relationship in social work practice.
- consider the importance of context in social work practice.

Completed study

The learner has completed the following:

Section 1

Introduction

Section 2

Learning Outcomes

Section 3

Video interviews

Section 4

Discussion

Section 5

Conclusion