

Statement of participation

Muhammad Farid Wajdi Makkulau

has completed the free course including any mandatory tests for:

Mental health in society

This free 8-hour course explored mental health in society.

Issue date: 10 September 2025

www.open.edu/openlearn

This statement does not imply the award of credit points nor the conferment of a University Qualification.
This statement confirms that this free course and all mandatory tests were passed by the learner.

Please go to the course on OpenLearn for full details:

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/mental-health-society/content-section-0>

COURSE CODE: K243_1

Mental health in society

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/mental-health-society/content-section-0>

Course summary

In this free course, Mental health in society, you will explore and critically reflect on mental health. You will explore the relationship between the lived experiences of individuals, and the society and environment in which they live. Different perspectives, approaches and models of understanding and critiquing mental health will be explored as well as a chance to develop skills in taking notes online.

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- begin to explore the different perspectives about mental health, including how the use of language reflects these perspectives
- briefly consider the historical context of mental health in England in Wales
- develop online note-taking skills.

Completed study

The learner has completed the following:

Section 1

Language

Section 2

The past: from asylum to community care?

Section 3

Self-management and study skills