Course summary

This free 24-hour course covers the principles and criteria underpinning the assessment of mental capacity and decision making in the UK. It is aimed at foundation level and will appeal to decision makers i.e. those who support people aged 16 or over and who have uncertain capacity to make decisions in order to address the variety of interpretation and inconsistent application in everyday provision. It will explain the law and how it is applied in a practical way for those in direct contact with members of the public making important decisions about their lives eg health and social care staff, but also police, banks and insurance industry workers, retailers. This statement serves as proof of the successful completion of a course accredited by the CPD Standards Office. You have earned 24 CPD points through your participation in this course.
